

Activity Overview

The practice of cardiology in the future will be impacted by the well-being of the workforce including how women in cardiology are given flexibility, mentoring, and the latitude to build women's heart programs. This activity allows for extensive discussion of issues and solutions to workforce needs.

Target Audience

This activity is designed for an audience of physicians.

Learning Objectives

Upon completion of the educational activity, participants should be able to:

- Display knowledge of best practices in workforce options for career options, flexibility, leadership, and mentoring.
- Identify the hallmarks of how to hold critical conversations.
- Answer questions about forces in the regulatory and advocacy arena that directly impact practice.
- Illustrate how a women's heart program can be created.
- Organize a mentor program with the ability to adapt and change the parameters as it grows.

Criteria for Success

There is no fee to participate in this activity. Statements of credit will be awarded based on the participant's attendance. A statement of credit will be available upon completion of an online evaluation/claim credit form available at:
